Collection Overview

Biographical Information:

Arlon S. Atherton was born in Richmond, NH on April 4, 1842, the son of Saben Atherton and Mary Ann Stearns. He enlisted at Keene, NH on August 14, 1861 into the Third NH Volunteers as a private. He was severely wounded at Deep Bottom Run, VA in the summer of 1864, following which he was captured and imprisoned at Libby Prison in Richmond, VA.

After the war, he married the woman to whom the letters in this collection were written, Susan (Susie) M. Caldwell, of Charlestown, MA. He established a grocery business in Wakefield, MA.

Collection Scope and Content Note:

The Arlon S. Atherton Papers consist mainly of correspondence and diaries related to Atherton's service with the Third New Hampshire Volunteers during the Civil War. The letters are generally from Atherton to his wife-to-be, Susan M. Caldwell, of Charlestown, MA. The collection also contains an account of his imprisonment at Libby Prison, Richmond, VA, that Atherton completed after the war. There are also miscellaneous newspaper clippings detailing the lives of Atherton and his wife.

Arrangement:

The material is arranged chronologically within categories in a single box. Three diaries, 1861-1863, are in the front of the box, followed by folders of letters he wrote to his future wife (1863-1865). The final folders contain his post-war account of captivity in Libby Prison (folder 5), some official documents, and newspaper clippings.
